What is meant by Special Educational Needs?

Children have Special Educational Needs if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them.

Children with Special Educational Needs:

- Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others the same age, or
- Have a disability which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream school.
- Special educational provision is educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, than made generally for other children and young people for the same age by mainstream schools.

Are disabled children also SEN?

Many children and young people with SEN may have a disability under the Equality Act 2010.

'... a physical or mental impairment which has long term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day to day activities.'

This definition includes sensory impairments such as those affecting sight or hearing and long term health conditions. Children with those conditions do not necessarily have SEN, but there is a significant overlap between disabled children and those with SEN. Where a disabled child requires special educational provision they will also be covered by the SEN definition.

Who can I contact in school to discuss my child's difficulties with learning, special educational needs or disability?

In the first instance, you should contact your child's tutor about any concerns about your child's progress or wellbeing you may have.

Your child's tutor will coordinate with subject teachers and other staff to establish further details and may seek advice from the SEND team and / or progress leader to address your concerns.

How are young people with special educational needs and disabilities supported to access and engage in a broad curriculum alongside others who do not have SEND at Queen Katharine Academy?

Every student is entitled to a broad and balanced curriculum and all students are encouraged, valued and accepted. At Queen Katharine Academy we have a fully inclusive ethos which means that all students are supported to reach their full academic potential.

We are a well-resourced and modern learning environment where all students are supported to enable them to access, enjoy and be successful in all activities offered within the academy curriculum and environment.

We offer:

- Inclusive 'High Quality Teaching' which takes into account the learning needs of all students;
- Personalised learning, including differentiated lesson materials, resources and equipment, to ensure all students can make progress over time;
- A range of assistive technology;
- Homework clubs;
- Personal Care rooms / showering facilities;
- A range of communication aids such as visual timetables;
- A number of intervention classrooms where students are able to follow specific intervention programmes;
- A supervised 'buddy room' and general social areas to enable students to access unstructured times safely;
- Access to shared adult support when necessary.

We ensure that teachers are aware of students' individual needs; we share strategy sheets and co-produce one page profiles, plus offer individual meetings with staff regarding the particular needs of learners to support appropriate differentiation. We also provide regular Continued Professional Development / Training for staff on issues relating to special educational needs and disabilities.

How will you let me know if you have concerns about my child's learning, special educational needs or disabilities and who will be involved?

You are the person who knows your child best and we value working in partnership with you. We strongly believe that a partnership approach with parents / carers is the best way to support a pupil's learning and needs.

Subject teachers make regular assessments of progress for all pupils. They will identify if a pupil is making less than expected progress given their age and individual circumstances. The first response to such progress will be high quality teaching targeted at their areas of development.

- Your child's subject teacher may contact you to discuss the progress of your child in a specific subject area. They may also talk to you about any issues during our scheduled parent evenings;
- Your child's tutor may contact you to discuss any concerns or to discuss progress across a range of subject areas. They will also talk to you during our scheduled tutor evenings;

If progress continues to be less than expected, the Progress Leader, SENDCo or Senior TA will contact you to discuss support mechanisms to secure better progress and outcomes for your child.

How do you know if a young person has additional needs?

At Queen Katharine Academy pupils are identified as having special educational needs through a variety of ways including the following:

- Close liaison with primary schools;
- Evidence-based, standardised screening assessments;
- Testing and assessing students;
- Rigorous tracking of pupil progress and target setting;
- Concerns raised by parents;
- Concerns raised by staff;
- Lesson observation;
- Liaison with external agencies;
- Health diagnosis through a paediatrician.

How will you know that the support my child has received has made a difference to my child's learning and how can I and my child be included in the review process?

If your child is assessed as having special educational needs you will be thoroughly involved in this process.

You and your child will meet with the SENDCo to jointly create a one page profile outlining what people appreciate about your child, what interests your child has and strategies to effectively support your child within the academy. SMART (Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant and Time Bound) outcomes will be set and appropriate provision put in place, which may include intervention programmes.

Your child's progress will be monitored and reported to you regularly, in accordance with the academy assessment schedule. We measure the impact and effectiveness of intervention and provision using the 'Assess, Plan, Do, Review' cycle every 6-12 weeks to ensure individual learning outcomes are monitored:

- Students may continue to require intervention or they may not, depending on outcomes;
- Where pupils have completed interventions which are proven to be effective, but have not made adequate progress, the SEND team may ask for more specialised help.

You and your child will be kept informed and encouraged to be actively involved in all stages of this support.

We welcome your support and feedback. You can, at any time, arrange an appointment to speak with the SENDCo or Senior TA regarding your child's progress.

How do you support children with medical conditions at Queen Katharine Academy?

Students at Queen Katharine Academy with medical conditions are fully supported to ensure they have full access to education and enjoy the same opportunities as any other child.

Where children have additional physical or medical needs our Welfare Officer, SEND and Attendance Teams work collaboratively with parents / carers and healthcare professionals. We will create an Individual Medical Care Plan with you to ensure that your child's needs can be met and are known by all staff.

What are access arrangements and how can these be agreed for students?

'Access Arrangements are pre-examination adjustments for candidates based on evidence of need and normal way of working... Access Arrangements allow candidates/learners with special educational needs, disabilities or temporary injuries to access the assessment without changing the demands of the assessment.' (Joint Council for Qualifications)

Each year, JCQ produce a document setting out the range of adjustments which can be requested to ensure that students with particular needs are not disadvantaged by the assessment methods. These adjustments can include, but are not restricted to:

- Alternative rooms;
- Bilingual dictionary;
- Computer reader, Reader pen or reader;
- Extra time;
- Practical assistants;
- Scribe or speech recognition technology;
- Supervised rest breaks;
- Word Processor.

Through a thorough process of identification of special educational needs, we are able to establish support mechanisms enabling students to demonstrate their learning and progress throughout the curriculum.

At the end of KS3, an additional inventory is taken of the progress and attainment data held on each student. At this time the SENDCo and qualified external professionals complete a series of detailed assessments for identified students and agree an application for access arrangements if appropriate. In addition, adjustments or improvements may be made to the support mechanisms in place for individual students.

Access arrangements represent a 'normal way of working' and are applied across the curriculum. However, if a student decides not to take advantage of the support method(s) offered, these will be disapplied.

What is an Education Health and Care Plan (EHCP), who can request one for my child and how are they monitored and maintained?

'The purpose of an EHCP is to make special education provision to meet the special educational needs of a child or young person, to secure improved outcomes for him/her across education, health and social care and, as he/her gets older, preparing for adulthood'. (Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice 0 to 25 Years, Section 9.2)

You, your child (where appropriate and aged 16 and over) and / or the Academy, usually the SENDCo, can request that the local authority conduct an assessment of your child's needs. This may lead to an EHCP.

It will take no more than 20 weeks from the request for an EHCP assessment to issuing the final EHC plan. An EHCP can provide a framework for support from birth to age 25 years.

Using a person-centred approach involving you and your child, an EHCP will contain:

- The views and aspirations of you and your child;
- A full description of their special educational needs and include any health and social care needs;
- Establish specific, measurable outcomes for your child's progress;
- Specify the provision required and how education, health and social care will work together to meet your child's needs and support the achievement of the agreed outcomes.

An annual review provides you and your child the opportunity to reflect on progress towards the specified outcomes with Queen Katharine staff and, if appropriate, other professionals. Outcomes and provision is reviewed and adjusted as necessary to meet your child's changing needs.

Students with an EHC Plan are overseen and supported by the SEND team. They have regular contact with your child, monitoring progress, absence and conduct, they check progress, liaising with your child's tutor and subject teachers and they also coordinate and attend meetings with you and other professionals.

What support is there for my child's happiness and wellbeing?

At Queen Katharine Academy we support student wellbeing through:

- Daily tutor time, which covers topical issues and current events;
- Tutors, Student Support Officers and Progress Leaders offer support on a daily basis;
- Some students, depending on their individual learning needs, may be involved in a bespoke emotional literacy programme;
- Students can attend structured lunchtime activities held in a supervised environment;
- Students can attend breakfast club

We also encourage our young people to communicate their thoughts, ideas and opinions by:

- Talking with a trusted adult;

- Being involved in the review of their Individual Student Learning Plan or EHCP.
